

Wound covering ...

... easy and effective.

Aluminium Spray

Film building and breathable barrier spray

› For cattle, horses, swine, poultry, sheep, dogs, cats and rabbits.

Distributed by:

Forte
Healthcare

ANIMEDICA

Aluminium Spray

Film building and breathable barrier spray

for tail injuries ◀ for castration wounds ◀ for dehorning wounds ◀ against moisture ◀ against wound infections ◀ protects against flies and other insects ◀

Aluminium Spray is an easy-to-use, water resistant topical spray that creates a protective barrier against external influences in wounds of large and small animals. Aluminium Spray is an ideal product for the proper protection and healing of wounds caused by common injuries and accidents in animals.

Optimum wound healing

Aluminium spray protects hairless areas of the skin with a thin metallic, flexible film that allows the skin to breath which is an essential factor for optimum wound healing. Furthermore the risk of infection will be significantly reduced.

Waterproof

Aluminium Spray is water resistant and will not wash off with cold or hot water or rain. However it can be easily removed with soapy water in order to inspect the treated wound. Being water resistant it is ideal for application to animals kept outside.

Easy-to-use

The spray-dose design allows fast and easy administration to all treated wounds. Aluminium Spray does not contain antibiotics, thus there is no withdrawal in farm animals. The product should be sprayed directly onto affected skin for 1–2 seconds from a distance of approx. 20 cm. The application can be repeated as necessary several times a day. For optimal use, wounds should be cleaned, disinfected and sutured if necessary before administration of Aluminium Spray.

› Product information

Composition: Colloidal aluminium 40 mg/ml; Propellant: butane / propane Shelf life: 36 months.

Storage: Keep away from direct sunlight and protect from temperatures over 50° C.

Presentation: 200 ml

Date: 26.06.2014

FORTE Healthcare Limited | Distribution/Administration Centre | Block 3, Unit 9, CityNorth Business Park, Stamullen, Co. Meath, Ireland
 Tel : 00 353 1 8417666 | Fax: 00 353 1 8416353
 enquiries@fortehealthcare.com | www.fortehealthcare.com